JEFFREY P. BOBBIN — PRESIDENT

Professional Experience

With over twenty-four years in the electronics integration and entertainment industries, Jeff has designed and installed some of the most fascinating and prestigious electronic systems ever created. In 1998 Jeff co-founded and formed Show System Integrators - SSI, operating out of Orlando, Florida. Jeff's vision was to build a powerful, yet efficient Electronic Systems Integration company that would provide reliable and technologically advanced systems for the entertainment industry.

Jeff's extensive background in creating high profile systems for Disney, Universal Studios, Warner Brothers and other high profile clientele proves that high quality systems can be designed and installed on time and on budget. With many years as a Special Venue Design Engineer, Project Manager and Integrator in the themed entertainment industry, Jeff's client list looks like the "Who's Who" in the industry. Jeff still takes a practical approach to each and every project. He believes it is important to design each system with the final show experience and the client's operational costs in mind. The final result must deliver a dynamic and consistent show experience to the audience each and every time, on schedule, and under budget.

Jeff currently holds Low Voltage contracting licenses in California, Florida, Nevada, Washington and reciprocating states and is a member of the National Systems Contractors Association and IAAPA.

Prior to the formation of Show System Integrators, Jeff co-founded the Soundelux Showworks System Division in 1992 and built one of the most successful System Integration companies in the world. After experiencing double-digit growth seven years in a row, the company was sold in 1999 to MTS. Before joining Showworks, Jeff spent six years with Maryland Sound Industries, touring, designing and integrating state of the art systems for such premiere acts as Neil Diamond, Pink Floyd, Yes, Whitney Houston, Crosby, Stills, & Nash, and countless live productions and tours.
